Goldleaf Data Announces New Partnership with DEFENDER Direct Premier Mailing List Firm to Supply Consumer Data to #1 ADT Dealer

Atlanta, GA, December 7, 2011—Goldleaf Data, a world-class supplier of up-to-the-minute data, mailing lists and sales leads, announced a new partnership with DEFENDER Direct, the #1 ADT dealer in the country, primarily providing them with Goldleaf’s premium consumer data. The partnership is effective February 2012.

Indianapolis-based DEFENDER Direct, a leading dealer of home security and digital communications brands, also provides marketing and sales support to a wide variety of clients. Goldleaf’s best-in-class consumer data will help DEFENDER Direct and its clients reach qualified leads faster, easier and more efficiently.

Maura Kautsky, chief marketing officer at DEFENDER Direct, said, “Because Goldleaf Data’s consumer data is fresh, accurate and precise, it will help make our marketing and sales initiatives even more successful. We know that without good data, even the best ideas may likely fail.”

Goldleaf Data is well known for providing accurate and timely new mover lists, as well as general business and consumer lists, interactive services and data service. They source their data through an exclusive arrangement with the telephone companies, allowing them to provide premium data at highly competitive prices.

According to Jason Butler, president of Goldleaf Data, “DEFENDER Direct is highly successful at what they do. Their corporate philosophy matches ours—unwavering commitment to customer service and quality. We look forward to helping them grow their business and client base even further.”
